

RVAHJ Facebook Page Announcement

Hi Honorary Justice Team

RVAHJ now has a Facebook page! It's a great new place for members and anyone else in the community to come along and learn all the latest and greatest from the Honorary Justice world. Simply search for RVAHJ or @honoraryjustices on your Facebook and join in the fun. (Be sure to "follow" or "like" the page to keep up to date with new posts)

RVAHJ on Facebook has some pretty interesting "stuff" on it already. You will find draft posters for your Document Signing Station, some pretty cool JP and BJ mini-videos (including "The JP Top Ten", "Do You Have What it Takes to be a JP?" and "What is a Bail Justice?"), some cartoons/jokes, a short BJ survey and much, much more.

Please check out the new RVAHJ Facebook page - and let us know what you think by sending us an email at social@rvahj.org.au, by commenting on a post, or by joining in an online discussion.

GOT NEWS?

We would love you to contribute to our Facebook page (please please please). It's a great way to recognise a service milestone or special effort; you could promote your local group - let others know the good work your team are doing; tell the whole State about an upcoming event in your area; share your thoughts or start a discussion on the latest changes to laws/rules/processes; share an experience; send in a photo. Anything at all (within reason and within our very tight editorial policy) - just so long as it relates to Honorary Justices. To contribute a post, simply email the details to us at social@rvahj.org.au (don't forget to include any pictures or images if you have them)

SUPER SECRET SPECIAL PLACE

We also have a "members only" Facebook page. This is an exclusive page for RVAHJ Members only - a closed group. You can request to join this page by searching "RVAHJ Honorary Justices" in Facebook. Once your membership is verified, you will be able to access the extra information there.

For clarity, the new RVAHJ Facebook page does not in any way replace e-News or Custodes - you will still get all your regular news and information from these communications - RVAHJ Facebook is just another way for RVAHJ members to communicate together and with the local community.

We hope you enjoy the new RVAHJ Facebook page. It's your page too - please help us make it a great and valuable online meeting place for Honorary Justices all across this wonderful State.
